

MCADOO LOSING; DAVIS MOVE STARTS

LEGISLATURE MAY BE ASKED TO VOTE FUNDS

Donahey Directs Relief
Work in Storm Stricken Cities.

Cleveland, O., July 1.—A special session of the Ohio legislature will be called to vote funds from the state treasury for the relief of stricken Lorain. If Governor A. V. Donahey heeds the request of the Cleveland city council, adopted last night, when a resolution requesting this action was adopted unanimously.

While Cleveland police officers, on duty in the devastated area of Lorain since Saturday night, were withdrawn late yesterday, other relief workers and trucks were dispatched there today to aid in the work of cleaning up the debris.

Columbus, July 1.—Governor Donahey issued an appeal to the people of Ohio to relieve the storm victims of Lorain and Sandusky.

The governor's action followed his conference with a committee of business men, whom he had summoned for a conference. Every bank in Ohio was designated a depository and collecting point for relief funds and the state will start the work with an appropriation of $50,000, which the governor will ask of the state emergency board.

No specific amount was named by the governor as the goal of the campaign which he placed under way. "Any amount the citizens of Ohio want to give will be used intelligently in the work of rehabilitating Lorain and Sandusky," the governor said. "This is Ohio's problem and Ohio must take care of it."

A committee of representative business men and manufacturers from over the state, nearly all of whom were at his conference, was appointed by the governor. This commission will have at its command every facility the state has to aid it in its work.

A proclamation issued by the governor after the meeting calls on every citizen of the state to contribute to the relief of the 3,000 homeless and almost helpless victims of the storm.

Fred A. Miller, Columbus shoe manufacturer, was named chairman of the commission; Thomas J. Donnelly, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor, is secretary, and David C. Willis of Cleveland, head of the federal reserve bank, is treasurer. Other members of the committee are: William Cooper Proctor of Cincinnati, Samuel J. Mathers of Cleveland, C. F. Kettering of Dayton, E. H. Baker of Cleveland, H. H. Timken of Canton, Stacy Adams of Youngstown, Warren S. Stone of Cleveland, Marshall Sheppey of Toledo and H. S. Firestone of Akron.

Cleveland, July 1.—Latest estimates place the number of dead as a result of the tornado that swept northern Ohio communities Saturday night at 160.

Estimates place the property damage in Ohio at more than $30,000,000. The exact amount will not be known for days.

Little progress was made in removing the tons of brick and twisted steel from the State theater in Lorain. The work was interrupted several times by heavy showers. The state department of health has completed their organization at Lorain. Eight relief stations, each equipped with doctors, nurses, ambulances and sanitary inspectors, are set up in various sections of the city.

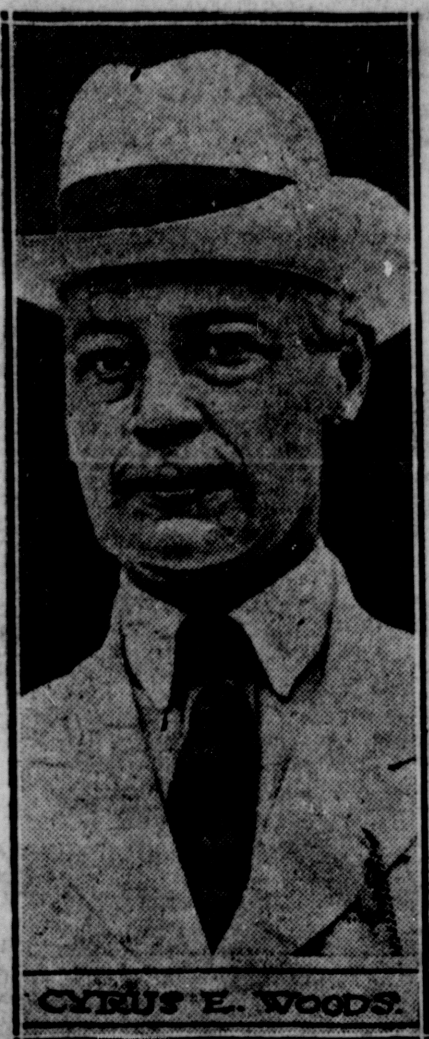

While the rescue work was going on throughout the wrecked parts of the city, Lorain business men and city officials were formulating plans for the rebuilding of Lorain. Mayor George Hoffman said Lorain will not be repaired, but rebuilt.

MEASURES TAKEN TO PREVENT EPIDEMICS IN NORTHERN OHIO

Columbus, July 1.—Drastic measures to prevent the outbreak of epidemics in northern Ohio communities stricken by Saturday's tornado have been taken by Dr. John E. Monger of the state health department. A branch of the department has been opened at Lorain to take charge of the city's water and milk supplies. All milk entering the city will be inspected, it was said. The tall stand pipe at the Sandusky water works was blown down.

Several hundred Boy Scouts in Cleveland were mobilized ready to give any assistance possible to the devastated areas. The city of Cleveland sent about 120 policemen, 40 of them by motor truck, as soon as word of the storm reached the outside. Cleveland also sent its street cleaning superintendent with 50 men to help clean the debris.

Believes Americans Safe in Japan.

Cyrus E. Woods, who resigned as American Ambassador to Japan, where he was greatly loved, is shown leaving the White House in Washington, where he told President Coolidge he believes Americans are safe in Japan, despite the feeling over the immigration restriction laws.

OUTLAWING OF CARD AGENTS TO BE FOUGHT BY DRY ORGANIZATION

Columbus, July 1.—A more forceful move by the Ohio Anti-Saloon league against Attorney General Crabbe's ruling outlawing the state prohibition card agents. C. M. Earhardt, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, has filed two mandamus suits on behalf of two card agents to collect a percentage of fines assessed against liquor law violators.

One suit is for H. S. Balser, card agent at Newtown, Hamilton county, and the other for T. E. Franklin, dry agent at Dennison. Balser wants the court to compel G. M. Bowen, village clerk at Newtown, to pay him $45 as his 30 per cent "split" of fines. Franklin seeks an order compelling O. C. Johnson, city clerk at Dennison, to pay him $25 as his 25 per cent "split."

Both agents had contracts with the mayors and their "bills" were approved by council. Balser submitted his bill March 17 and Franklin his on April 2. Attorney General Crabbe issued his ruling outlawing the "card agents" on March 5. "We expect to bring the issue of the attorney general's ruling before the court by these cases and thereby test the validity of his opinion," Earhardt stated.

That the two cases will in any way settle the issue involved in his ruling was denied by Crabbe. He pointed out that the court might order both men paid without passing at all on the legality of their appointment as state agents, inasmuch as they had contracts with the two villages.

Drinking Light Liquor.
London, July 1.—According to George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom alliance, which is the British counterpart of the Anti-Saloon league, England is drinking less "hard liquor," but is increasing its consumption of wines and beer. The increase in the consumption of "light" liquors is sufficiently great, Wilson points out in his annual report, to result in an increase of about 3 per cent in the consumption of absolute alcohol, despite the falling off in the use of drinks of high alcoholic content.

Fall's Statement.
Three Rivers, N. M., July 1.—Former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall stated that he welcomed his indictment as affording an opportunity for the United States courts "to pass upon so-called evidence and to construe the laws of congress."

Town Without Water.
Berea, O., July 1.—Berea is without water or electric light, the municipal systems being flooded. Workmen were driven from the powerhouse, the water later rising to eight feet inside the building. The flood smashed all records.

Workman Drowns.
Columbus, July 1.—Falling into the Scioto river near Powell, while attempting to float some timber into position, George Rhodes, 33, of Plain City, O., was drowned. Patrolmen Womeldorf and Pennell recovered the body. Rhodes leaves his wife and four children.

LORAIN SEEKS ITS DEAD WHILE FUNERALS HELD

Seventy Eight Bodies
Taken From Ruins; Coffins
Are Arriving

Lorain, O., July 1.—With seventy-eight dead officially reported at Red Cross headquarters here this morning and twenty-seven funerals at Elmwood and Calvary Cemeteries to be held today, a systematic search of the ruins of homes on the east side was begun today, where it was believed that some of the twenty-five officially listed as missing might be found in the wreckage and ruins of the homes there.

Work of excavating the ruins of the State Theater, and Crystal restaurant in which additional bodies were expected to be found, was resumed at daybreak this morning.

A steam shovel was removing the jumbled mass of debris in the basement of the theater building, but the work was proceeding with care as it was believed possible that some might still be living there.

The Chamber of Commerce was holding a meeting today, planning for the rebuilding of the business district upon a modern scale. Plans were made yesterday and announcements were made that the business structures would be reconstructed upon a larger scale than before.

Requests for information regarding missing persons, believed to be in Lorain, continued to pour in at Red Cross Headquarters and at the offices of the city officials. While all possible efforts were being made to check these, the Red Cross was withholding publication of the list of those reported as dead, and not identified in the list of lost.

Rain, which broke over the city last night, poured into the morgues where bodies awaited burial, falling upon the faces of the dead. For a time, fears were held that the dead tornado had not yet reaped its complete toll and was coming back again, but the storm, while violent, did no particular damage.

A ship, bearing many coffins to entomb the storm victims, made port here last night and after unloading its freight left for Cleveland with some of the injured who could be moved to a place where surgical aid and nursing was more easily available.

UNITED STATES FLAG TORN DOWN BY ANGRY JAPANESE PROTESTING IMMIGRATION LAW

Tokio, July 1.—The United States embassy flag was torn down early today by angry Japanese in protest against the immigration law excluding Japanese which will become effective at midnight tonight.

Extra forces of police were on duty in the streets as a result of threats by extremists to make an anti-American demonstration. Foreign Minister Shidehara was to address both houses of the diet upon government policy, in connection with the American immigration measure. It was anticipated that the speeches would be friendly in tone but would voice Japan's vigorous opposition against the principal of exclusion.

MRS. WM. GLOSSINGER DIES IN HOSPITAL TUESDAY MORNING

Mrs. Katherine Glossinger, 51, wife of William Glossinger of Yellow Springs, formerly of Xenia, died at the Springfield City Hospital Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Death followed an operation for tumor followed by a complication of diseases. Mrs. Glossinger had been ill two weeks.

She was born in Germany and came to America with her parents when twelve years of age. Her maiden name was Katherine Fleckenstein and her marriage to Mr. Glossinger took place in Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Glossinger lived in this city for a number of years and moved to Yellow Springs nine years ago. Their only daughter, Miss Theresa Glossinger, with her aunt, a sister of Mrs. Glossinger, was killed near Xenia several years ago.

Surviving are Mrs. Glossinger's mother, Mrs. Lena Fleckenstein and three sisters, the Misses Anna and Lena Fleckenstein of Yellow Springs and Mrs. Howard Shane of Jamestown and one brother, Otto Fleckenstein of Yellow Springs.

Mrs. Glossinger was a member of St. Paul's Catholic Church, of Yellow Springs and of the Altar Society of that church.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT HARDING TRIBUTE

New York, July 1.—The Democratic national convention adopted the following resolution in memory of the late President Harding: "In political campaigns the American people are divided into opposing parties; after the election they are as one man in allegiance to the government and in loyalty to the nation's chief executive. As Democrats we stand uncovered beside the grave of Warren G. Harding, late president of the United States, with his most devoted friends in expressions of regret at his untimely death and share the sorrow that it has brought into his home."

WRITERS OF DEATH NOTES CAUGHT.

These three boys—Walter Darns, Ignatius Clombob and Walter Rorica—shown here with Detective Winge, have been arrested in Chicago and have confessed they wrote to Jacob Frank, millionaire father of murdered Robert Frank, threatening members of the Frank family unless they were paid $8,000. Jacob Frank deposited the package where ordered and the lads were arrested by hidden detectives.

WINGED MAIL SERVICE STARTED WITH SIXTY AIRPLANES AT WORK

Chicago, July 1.—Sixty airplanes, bright path in the 885 miles of the trans-American flight that will be made each night, showed all the lights working perfectly from the gas flares, sending up their beams in constantly recurring flashes to the five hundred million candlepower beacons casting their rays 150 miles.

Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster, with headquarters in Chicago, as the new service gets under way, today expressed satisfaction in the manner the air mail service has overcome handicaps in getting ready for the start of what he characterized as the "largest presentation of aviation as a business service."

Carl F. Egge, general superintendent with headquarters at Omaha, reported that ten of eleven ships in the hangar razed at Omaha in the storm of June 21, had been salvaged.

The DeHavillands of the new day and night service have additional wing span to bring their flying speed to 120 miles an hour and slow their landing speed. All of the night ships have 250,000 wing flares and parachute lights for all forced landings. Each can carry 500 pounds of mail or approximately 26,000 letters.

EPIDEMIC FEARED RESULT OF STORM

Alliance, O., July 1.—This city faces the danger of epidemic as a result of the pollution of the city water supply by sewage from Sebring emptying into the Mahoning river. Health Commissioner Floyd Stamp urged that water be boiled before use, saying conditions were serious. The situation is the result of Saturday night's storm, which caused the river to reach the highest stage in 42 years, halted all trains, caused big damage to property and injured five persons in Alliance. The storm played havoc with a Ku Klux Klan celebration at Rockhill park. A tent in which hundreds had gathered to escape the rain went down, burying the people beneath the canvas, but no one was hurt.

TAGGART PROMISES ACTION AS ANSWER TO ENEMY ATTACKS

New York, July 1.—Tom Taggart, the Indiana Democratic boss called a caucus of the Indiana delegation today to discuss the situation that has developed in the balloting of the Democratic national convention. He intimated "interesting news" might develop.

Asked concerning reports that certain leaders who are backing some of the principal candidates for the presidential nomination have inaugurated an attack upon him, Taggart smiled and attributed the "attack" to "confused mentality" and "the strain of the convention."

Taggart had Samuel Ralston, Indiana's "dark horse," on the long distance this morning and assured the senator that everything was proceeding as per schedule and that he was confident of the result.

"Things ought to begin to pop in five or six more ballots," said Taggart, just before the convention assembled today. "Our situation remains unchanged. We are able at any time to show an increased strength, but don't feel that the time has come when we want to get into the fight. We have not asked and don't expect delegates who are now in the big fight to break away until the chances of their candidate have been thoroughly exhausted. This had not occurred."

"Neither Smith or McAdoo have reached the peak of their power. I expect both of them to receive additional votes from Indiana, Ohio and possibly Maryland. The seventeenth ballot should be watched closely."

By tonight I think the real sentiment of the convention will begin to show itself and maybe tomorrow there will be another story to tell."

Curtis Not Guilty.
Canton, O., July 1.—Former Safety Director E. B. Curtis pleaded not guilty to seven indictments charging bribery, when arraigned before Judge A. W. Agler in common pleas court. His trial will be held July 21.

CALIFORKIAN'S ST RENGTH BEGINS TO WANE TUESDAY AS VOTING CONTINUES; SMITH HOLDS PLACE

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 1.—William Gibbs McAdoo's much weakened strength in the Democratic national convention began to break away from him seriously today on the twentieth ballot.

McAdoo suffered reverses on every ballot from the fifteenth which marked his peak point at 479, culminating on the twentieth when Missouri broke away from his standard, after voting consistently for him, for nineteen ballots and went to John W. Davis. This brought his strength down 432—a loss during the day of 47.

A pronounced Davis movement set in as the McAdoo recession became distinctly noticeable and the West Virginian went over the 100 mark on the twentieth ballot, marking the first time any dark horse has shown this much strength.

The Missouri swing to Davis had been preceded earlier by Mississippi swinging to the West Virginian, after dropping Senator Pat Harrison, her favorite son. Louisiana voted consistently for Davis, as did his own West Virginia, and he picked up enough scattering strength to bring him up in the list.

Governor Smith, meanwhile, was running second in an easy position and showing slight, but fairly consistent gains.

McAdoo's contingent in the Missouri delegation, insisted upon a poll of the delegation when it was cast en bloc for Davis, and the poll taken showed that Davis people were in the majority.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 1.—Continued deadlock marked the progress of the Democratic national convention, with William G. McAdoo losing ground in the first seven ballots of the day. Governor Smith of New York, showing small progress and behind these two John W. Davis of West Virginia, picking up strength on each ballot.

McAdoo's total on the fifteenth ballot last night was 479 but he did not reach that strength again on the four ballots of today's session, dropping down on the eighteenth to 470.5, gaining 3 1-2 on the nineteenth, and dropping to 438 1-2 on the twenty-second.

West Virginia, Louisiana, Wyoming and finally Mississippi, formed the basis of the Davis strength with scattering votes, from other states which on the twenty-second ballot had reached 123 1-2. This is the highest point attained by an candidate outside the leaders up to and including this ballot.

The balloting was marked by a successful attempt to break the unit rule of states. In the case of Florida, which is a primary state Governor Smith profited by the breaking of the rule in this instance by one vote.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, manager of Smith, declared this was to be the first of many breaks as there are other states claimed by McAdoo under the unit rule where conditions prevail similar to those in Florida. The anti-McAdoo contingent in the Missouri in delegation also made another attempt to break the rule under which Missouri's 36 votes have been solidly cast for McAdoo.

The Missouri poll showed a majority for McAdoo and Walsh and the entire vote goes to McAdoo.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 1.—Continued balloting Tuesday failed to produce important changes in the standings of leading candidates from the results of last night's overtime struggle.

The three ballots taken today showed a slight loss for McAdoo and an

FORD MAY EXTEND "GRASSHOPPER" RAILROAD FROM KINGMAN TERMINAL INTO CINCINNATI

Lebanon, July 1.—Henry Ford is contemplating building the D. T. & I. railroad into Cincinnati instead of Hamilton, it was learned here from E. G. Leibold, private secretary to Ford, and vice president of the railroad. "In either case, the road would probably pass through Lebanon."

Mr. Leibold told a committee from Harveysburg, twelve miles east of here, and four miles west of Kingman, the present terminal of the "Grasshopper" branch of the D. T. & I., that the right of way was to be surveyed through the village, probably this fall or next spring.

A construction official who was in Harveysburg previously to Mr. Leibold, said that seven surveys had been made into Cincinnati by various routes but none had proven acceptable to Mr. Ford.

The official also intimated that Ford was more interested in getting connections with his coal fields in Kentucky than with either his tractor plant at Hamilton or his automobile assembling plant in Cincinnati.

Mr. Leibold told the committee at Harveysburg that new rails and ties were being laid on the D. T. & I. branch to Kingman and the work would be completed this fall. The surveying of the proposed extension would not be undertaken until the repair work is completed, he said.

The committee of Harveysburg business men which has been working for the extension of the line into the village called on Leibold at Detroit in May. The committee is composed of W. P. McCarren, chairman; F. L. Harris, C. B. Cook and E. S. Collett. Mr. McCarren arranged the interview with Mr. Leibold through the former's acquaintance with Mr. Ford's brother-in-law, E. R. Bryant at Xenia.

The construction man was out looking over the location in a few days after the committee's visit and Mr. Leibold on receiving a favorable report from the first man, came down two weeks ago.

Howard W. Ivins, attorney, Lebanon, representing the Lebanon chamber of commerce, after six months' work, has submitted a detailed plan for running the railroad through Lebanon to Hamilton and is expecting to hear from Ford at any time.

When the D. T. & I. was built to Kingman, the right of way was obtained through Harveysburg to a junction with the C. L. & N. (then the D. L. & C.) railroad through Lebanon, near Dadds station. Most of the right of way was also graded and culverts built. The road was never completed on account of the lack of funds.

Since then the rights have been sold for taxes and part of the gradings and culverts have been destroyed. The committee at Harveysburg in making a survey of the situation have found that most of the owners of the right of way are willing to return it to the road. A site for a depot has also been offered. Similar work has been done on the remainder of the proposed extension.

The line would follow Caesars Creek from Harveysburg to the Little Miami river. If the old right of way is followed, A bridge was never constructed across the stream.

FARM PROGRESS

USE OF TIMOTHY
BOOSTS PRICE OF
MILK IT IS SAID

Ohio dairy farmers who make little or no profit on milk production can trace their trouble, much of the time, to the use of timothy hay.

Even in the dairy counties a majority of the farmers feed their cows that most expensive of all milk-producers, says S. M. Salisbury, animal husbandry extension specialist at the Ohio State University, after visiting and talking with dairymen in nearly every county in northeastern Ohio.

"You can see the difference in prosperity when you strike a farm where legume hays are fed, and where, it usually follows, some purebred stock are kept. Timothy, on the other hand is about as poor—and hence expensive—a milk producing roughage as a dairyman can feed.

"To grow legumes on many farms will mean drainage, the use of lime, and inoculation. That means an initial cost, but it's the only hope if a man wants to produce milk at a profit in the long run.

"Timothy hay is one reason why the average dairy cow in Ohio produces only about 1700 quarts of milk a year, hardly enough to bring a profit. Even in Ashtabula and Trumbull Counties, leading the state in the number of dairy cattle, most of the dairymen still feed the costly timothy."

According to tables sent to county agents by the University, when timothy is the roughage fed to cows, along with corn silage, the grain ration needs from 22 to 24 per cent of protein. Buying protein feeds, the University points out, is costly.

BERNARR MACFADDEN

Health
Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Some people are naturally small eaters. Sometimes they are above the normal in weight. It is because of good assimilation. You may find others who are below weight, and yet eat more food than those who are heavier in proportion to their height. They do not digest what they eat. You can improve your digestion by eating only when hungry, and also by thorough mastication.

One of the advantages of thorough mastication is the greater enjoyment of food. If you like to eat, if you eat for the sake of eating, then most of all, you should take time to chew your food. Chew each morsel and extract every trace of taste from it.

In many cases, the longer you chew, the better the taste.

Even if you eat less at your meal through this plan, you will enjoy it more.

Those who are accustomed to gormandizing, especially, will do well to heed the foregoing. Thorough mastication will probably do more to help avoid over-eating and obesity than other practice. The normal condition of the stomach thus brought about seems to give one an instinctive impulse to quit eating when one has had enough.

Try to spend from half an hour to an hour at your meals, depending upon whether you are having a light lunch or a hearty dinner. Even liquid foods should be masticated, whether fruit juices, milk, soups or what not. Milk, when taken by the young creature direct from the mother, is taken slowly, almost drop by drop. It is thus masticated, mixed with saliva. One ought never to drink a glass of milk as one drinks a glass of water. It should either be taken through a straw or sipped very slowly, or better still, close the lips on the glass with an opening so small that you have to make an effort to draw in the milk somewhat in the manner of a suckling baby.

The foods most frequently under-masticated are porridges, puddings, etc. If such foods are served, they should be masticated deliberately.

SYSTEM OF LOCAL PROMOTION FOR CHILDREN
URGED BY STATE SCHOOL HEADNOT NEW HERE

A system of trial promotion for school children who fail to pass regular examinations was recommended to teachers of Ohio, in a report issued last week by Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education.

"We already have this plan in operation in the majority of the schools of Greene County, and expect in the coming year to adhere more closely to it as a means of saving time for the children and expense to the county," H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, said in connection with Mr. Riegel's recommendation.

If put into effect the ruling will save thousands of dollars each year to the state and at the same time advance children in schools and have an extra year of school work to many pupils, Riegel said.

Under the plan, a child, who fails to pass the examination, will be advanced to the next grade at the beginning of the year following failure, and will be given particular attention for five or six weeks.

If the pupil fails in this opportunity he or she will be returned to the lower grade and made to spend another year in that grade. If the pupil "makes good," he will be permitted to continue the year in the higher grade.

Parents will have opportunity to assist backward pupils and save the state the expense of an additional year of tutoring for them.

It is estimated that 95,000 pupils fail each year in Ohio and that cost of maintaining these failures in school is $1,500,000.

The system is not entirely experimental, according to Riegel, who said it has been tried successfully in both Ohio and Illinois.

In trials in Springfield, Ill., and Decatur, 75 per cent of the children advanced on probation made good and the percentage of promotions in these schools totaled 95 per cent of the enrollment," Riegel said.

"The tendency all too prominent at present in determining promotions, at the close of the term is to ask whether the pupil has done satisfactorily the work of the grade just completed," Riegel said in a statement made public yesterday.

"There seems too seldom to be any thought of asking whether the pupil could do the work of the next higher grade.

"There will be just one reason why such an army of children will not go forward this fall, escaping the futility of a degrading year in the same grade and that will be the failure of school officials to try the experiment," he asserted.

Xenia citizens have an opportunity to acquire an excellent site for a public park at a reasonable price.

In a city which boasts all necessary utilities, including public ownership of the water supply, the absence of a park or community center, is a noticeable missing link in the community life.

Where cities have progressed, the consideration of recreational facilities for its citizens has gone hand in hand with the development. Progressive municipalities are marked by the attention they pay to proper park and recreational facilities.

Xenia can complete the cycle of progressiveness by giving attention to this question, a solution of which is to be found in the acquiring of a site, the location of which is ideal—acquiring it now while it is possible to obtain. The site is a ten-acre tract in the Dodds Addition, bordering on the proposed Detroit Boulevard, within two squares of the Court House, and offers the possibility of establishing a swimming pool at some future time.

Xenia is extremely fortunate in having this unsettled section still at hand in this central location. The tract proposed as the park site is near the Cox Memorial Athletic Field, which will be the center of outdoor athletic activities. It has many natural possibilities and can be purchased for $1,500.

However, a survey conducted by people interested in the project has convinced them it would be unwise to make a general campaign now for funds sufficient to finance the entire project. They have been unanimous, however, in the belief it would be a mistake to permit this site to pass out of their grasp. They believe funds sufficient to acquire the site for completion of the rest of the project next year could be obtained through personal subscriptions, at this time.

It would seem unfair to future generations to miss the chance to acquire this location. Continued building in the addition will raise the price of that land beyond reach. It would seem particularly timely to take advantage of Mr. Dodds' offer now.

IT TAKES TIME TO DO IT

Some people have begun to raise the question, Is China worth while?

Such a question has popped into men's minds because of the vast amount of publicity that has been given to bandits, soldiers, and unprincipled officials. Black headlines on these subjects have made us forget some of the encouraging things.

People are getting disgusted with China because she is so slow in establishing a republic and settled down to an ordered government. Are they just? Is it fair for outsiders to be so impatient? Have we honestly and accurately measured the difficulties? China was not ready for a republic—it came to soon. But it came. And with it came unmeasured problems due to ignorance, poverty, vast distances, lack of roads, lack of any news system, and lack of modern trained men.

People who know all the facts are not discouraged. They are not worried by the chaos and confusion. They have expected it. The present condition of China could easily have been predicted by a man like Babson.

China is not deteriorating. It may appear so on the surface. But all this banditry and militarism are but the death throes of the old order. These old out-of-date chieftains are fighting to maintain themselves. They know that their day has ended and they are desperate. Beneath all this terrific muddle great moral and spiritual forces are at work, which in the end will save China and enable her to take her rightful place—a large one—in the family of nations.—James Maxon Yard.

CHARACTER OF GENERAL DAWES

The daily press has played up to such an extent the testimony of General Dawes before a congressional committee which attempted to investigate the exorbitant costs of war supplies, that many thought of him only as a profane and vigorous character.

It was an easy matter to learn that he was born at Marietta, Ohio, August 27, 1865, and was graduated from Marietta College and Cincinnati Law School. He has been a very successful banker and developer of public service corporations. He was United States Comptroller of Currency from 1897 to 1902, and the director of the federal budget in 1921. He was closely related to General Pershing during the war, and was the general purchasing agent of the American Expeditionary Forces. His most recent service was in the chairmanship of the committee of experts appointed by the Reparations Commission. As far as business ability and vigorous action are concerned, there has been no question about General Dawes; but the more essential consideration is that of his personal character and ideals. A study of his writings, four volumes of which were found in the Congressional Library, have proved most assuring in this respect. Although an able soldier, he deplores war and its awful horrors. In the diary he kept during his service in France, the man's heart is revealed as tender, sympathetic and reverent.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

UNINSTRUCTED

"I'm going to send you down to earth,"
Said God to me one day.
"I'm giving you what men call 'birth'—
Tonight you'll start away;
I want you there to live with men
Until I call you back again."

I trembled as I heard Him speak,
Yet knew that I must go;
I felt His hand upon my cheek,
And wished that I might know
Just what on earth would be my task,
And timidly I dared to ask.

"Tell me before I start away
What Thou would have me do;
What message would Thou have me say,
When shall my work be through?
That I may serve Thee on the earth,
Tell me the purpose of my birth."

God smiled at me and softly said:
"Oh, you shall find your task,
I want you free life's paths to tread,
So do not stay to ask,
Remember, if your best you do,
That I shall ask no more of you."

How often as my work I do,
So commonplace and grim,
I sit and sigh and wish I knew
If I am pleasing Him,
Wondering with every test,
I've truly tried to do my best.

I have received the following letters from readers of this column, each one containing a recipe, for which I want to thank these kind contributors.

"Mitchell's Prize Crop": One of your readers recently asked for a recipe for the following: Scotch Haggis: Procure one sheep's pluck and one sheep's stomach bag. Wash the pluck well and put it into a pot with water to cover, letting the wind pipe hang out of the pot so that any impurities will come out through it; boil gently for about two hours. Have your butcher clean the stomach bag, then wash it well and put it over the fire in cold water; bring to a boil, which will cause the bag to contract, after which take it from the water immediately, wash and scrape it well, then lay it in salt and water till needed. Mince the best part of the lungs and heart of the pluck, discarding all the grizzly part. Grate the best parts of the liver (of the pluck) and then put all into a large bowl. Put one-half pound of oatmeal on a dish in your oven and toast it well, then add it to the contents of the bowl. Chop one-half pound of suet finely with two teaspoons of salt and one of pepper; add a large cup of water in which the pluck was boiled and turn this mixture into the bowl with the other ingredients. Fill the stomach bag with this forcemeat, with the smooth side inside and not filling it too full. Sew up the opening. Prick the bag in several places with a darning needle to keep it from bursting, then put it into a pot in boiling water to cover and simmer for three hours.

readers asked for the following: Three-Egg Angel Food Cake: Beat three egg whites stiff, then beat into them one cup of sugar, and one teaspoon of vanilla, and fold in one and one-third cups of flour which have been sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of cream of tartar. Last add two-thirds of a cup of scalded milk and bake in a moderate oven about 40 or 50 minutes.

"M. L.: Here is a recipe for Anchovy Cheese Crackles, which was recently requested. Mix together the contents from one tube of anchovy paste, one small cream cheese, one teaspoon of onion juice, and one tablespoon each of butter and lemon juice. Spread this paste on very thin slices of bread, roll, and toast in oven, turning when brown."

Today's Talks

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL DAY!

Yesterday it rained. It was dark and gloomy. Just like dozens of days preceding. But today the sun rose early and streamed its gold and crimson tints through the trees just as the day tossed its covers off.

The songsters of the wood gathered together anew and seemed to be thanking the Great God for uncovering the sun again.

The flowers, too, opened their eyes and lifted their deliciously scented heads to the light and impregnated the air with fragrance.

I leaned out of my window and said, "What a beautiful day!"

And then the clouds seemed to fall away, though I knew that I was strapping new and heavier bundles upon my back.

But when the sun shines and the day is full of light, somehow we don't mind the added tasks.

Whoever manages this world, understands.

We need the dark days to make us appreciate the bright ones when they come.

The business of life is to deal bravely with contrasts. There would be little beauty in the world without these contrasts. We must learn about them and place our values upon them.

The man who has often experienced dire defeats attempts tasks which he is not wholly sure he can handle. But he isn't afraid to try, for he is not dependent upon others. He is a world unto himself.

Tonight the moon is large and full and streams its golden rays through the tree tops just outside my window. It talks to me. It gives me hope. It is restful and inspiring. And so I shall now go to my sleep hoping great things upon the coming of the morrow.

What a beautiful day!

SCRIBE MODESTLY DENIES RUMOR HE HAS WITHDRAWN AS DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

ROLAND KREBS
New York, July 1.—The report that have withdrawn from the Democratic presidential nomination race, after alloting up one vote on the thirteenth ballot in the national convention, is another of those rumors spread around about public men.

With the help of Michigan's one vote I am in this race to win.

I am a good, clean guy, admirably fitted to fill the job once held by Lincoln and also fit to be shot.

If nominated by the Democrats and I will be nominated, I shall run on the Republican platform. I have opened campaign headquarters ten feet to the left of the third faucet in Decey's bar on Thirty Third Street. It was raided Saturday night and again Sunday. I need no vice presidential candidate, as I am capable of filling both jobs myself. But my choices for cabinet are:

Secretary of State—Harry F. Sinclair.

Secretary of the Interior—Albert B. Fall.

Attorney General—Gaston B. Means.

Secretary of Labor—J. P. Morgan.

Secretary of Commerce—Edward L. Doheny.

Secretary of Treasury—Albert B. Ponzi.

Postmaster General—Harry K. Thaw.

Secretary of War—William Jennings Bryan.

Secretary of Navy—Truman L. Newberry.

Secretary of Agriculture—Senator Magnus Johnson.

My policies will be broad and many. I will make any promises necessary to get votes, whether I can keep them or not.

I will abolish the house of representatives, and the senate three times. All the rubbish in the congressional library will be swept out and the place turned into a cabaret. I favor beer, gin and bourbon of a 98.44 per cent alcoholic content and, all other things that respectable people are against.

I am not one of those funny people who are too modest to speak about themselves. If I were to describe me briefly but not too briefly I would say:

"Mr. Krebs, like all other candidates, wears no man's collar. His are all attached.

"Mr. Krebs is unmarried, but open to propositions. He is shy, polished, well-mannered, a lover of nature, a clean liver, honest about small sums, agreeable and skinny.

In appearance he resembles John Barrymore. He would wear good clothes if he paid a little more for them. Mr. Krebs' report cards in

LIFT WAR TAX ON TELEPHONE CALLS AFTER WEDNESDAY

The government tax on toll telephone messages will be discontinued after midnight, Wednesday, July 2, under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1924, in which Congress repealed that section of the 1921 Revenue Act under which this tax was imposed. It was announced Tuesday by H. W. Cleaver, manager of the Bell Telephone Company in this city.

This will mean a reduction to the telephone users in the cost of toll service, according to Mr. Cleaver.

On a message for which the charge has been more than four cents and not more than 50 cents, the tax has been 5 cents, with a 10-cent tax on a message which was subject to a charge of more than 50 cents.

Mr. Cleaver said these taxes, which in proportion to the toll were higher for service for toll messages charge for longer distances, the tax in over most instances amounting to one-third of the toll charge.

While most of the provisions of the new federal tax act became a law with the signature of President Coolidge on June 2, and went into effect immediately or were retroactive, as in the case of federal income taxes, in the section dealing away with the telephone message tax was expressly declared to be effective thirty days after the enactment of the law. This period expires at midnight Wednesday.

Following is an example of the cost to subscribers of toll messages to which the federal tax applied, the rates being "station-to-station."

Rate Tax Total
Xenia to Springfield $15 .05 $20
Xenia to Sabina .20 .05 .25
Xenia to Hillsboro .35 .05 .40
Xenia to Columbus .50 .05 .55
Xenia to Lima .60 .10 .70
Xenia to Zanesville .75 .10 .85

With the tax eliminated, the total cost to subscribers of such toll calls will be the figures in the first of the foregoing columns.

XENIA POSTOFFICE CHANGED TO FIRST CLASS OFFICE NOW

Based on a fiscal year instead of a calendar year, the Xenia Post office entered a first class standing, promoted from second class, July 1, according to Postmaster H. E. Rice, after announcement from Washington.

Announcement of the change from second to first class in the Xenia post office was made about January 1 but the change was not made definitely until Tuesday.

The change is a result of the annual re-adjustment of postmasters' salaries, and Postmaster Rice's salary will be increased based on receipts.

The Yellow Springs Postoffice has been advanced from third to second class, which will mean a change in the salary of Postmaster C. C. Stephenson.

LARGE ATTENDANCE EXPECTED AS HOME EX-PUPILS MEET FOR REUNION

With 250 members registered on the opening day, Tuesday, a record attendance is expected to mark the forty-fourth annual reunion of the Ex-Pupils' Association of the O. S. and S. O. Home, in session at the institution, this week.

Wednesday will be the "big day" of the reunion, when the Ex-Pupils' Memorial Library Building, which is nearing completion at the Home, will be dedicated. A place has been left in the building, for the cornerstone, and at these ceremonies, George B. Harris, Cleveland, candidate for the republican nomination for Governor of Ohio, and an ex-pupil at the Home will be the speaker.

The memorial building will be accepted for the G. A. R., the founders of the Home, by the Rev. Edward Burdall, of Batavia, department commander. The dedicatory exercises are to take place at 2 o'clock, standard time.

Harlan G. Campbell, Dayton, president of the Ex-Pupils' Association, expected the largest registration of former pupils of the institution in the history of the organization, before the close of the reunion. The exercises incident to the dedicating of the Memorial Building are expected to draw the large attendance.

The three-day program opened Tuesday morning with a 7 o'clock breakfast at the institution. From 8 to 12 o'clock was held the registration and reception of ex-pupils. Dinner was served at 12 o'clock.

From 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon a "get-together" was held when boys and girls who played together in bygone years visited one another and renewed old acquaintances. A band concert was enjoyed at 2 o'clock by the Home Band. Supper was served at 5 o'clock, followed by a concert by the Home Band at 6 o'clock. A "Buster Brown and Mary Jane" dancing party was staged at 7:30 o'clock with music by Craft's Orchestra.

With breakfast at 7 o'clock and a band concert at 8 o'clock, Wednesday's program will begin. A business meeting and election of officers will be held on the pavilion at 9 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock. A concert by the band at 1 o'clock in the afternoon will precede the laying of the cornerstone and dedication of the Memorial Building. Memorial services will be held in the chapel at 4 o'clock, with a banquet at 6 o'clock.

H. H. Griswold, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives will be the principal speaker at the banquet. Music will be furnished by Craft's orchestra, and dancing will be enjoyed with accompaniment by the orchestra from 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Another business session will be held at 9 o'clock, Thursday morning, followed by dinner at 12 o'clock. Sports for the children will open the afternoon program at 1 o'clock, with a baseball game at 2 o'clock. The reunion will close with the grand ball at 8 o'clock. Craft's Orchestra will furnish the music.

Officers of the Association are: President, Harlan G. Campbell, Dayton; First Vice President, Robert O'Dell, Columbus; Second Vice President, Homer LeFevre, Springfield; Recording Secretary, Alice McNabb Gheen, Dayton; and Treasurer, Oliver DeVore, Leipsic.

PRISONER KILLED TRYING TO ESCAPE

Mansfield, O., July 1.—Raymond Saunders of Summit county was killed when he attempted to escape from the state reformatory here. A companion, George Andertone, leader of a bandit gang, sent up from Columbus, made his escape. The two men constructed an improvised rope from sheets and blankets and used this in the get-away. Andertone, who weighs but 114 pounds, went down the rope first and made his escape, but Saunders, a heavier man, broke the rope and fell to his death. Saunders, who was 29 years of age, weighed 164 pounds. He was serving a sentence for burglary and larceny. Andertone was arrested in Columbus on Feb. 7. He was implicated in a number of robberies, officials say.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Who'll Bell The Cat?

One of the old fables tells how all the mice held a meeting one day and decided their common enemy, the cat, would have to be belled for their safety—so that they would always be warned of its stealthy approach.

But when the question was raised as to who would bell the cat—every little mouse was silent.

Of course this fable was originated before a perfect classified advertising medium had been developed. If the Gazette-Republican A-B-C Classified Section had been known, the fable would have gone on to tell how easily the mice found a dog who specialized as a cat "beller."

Nowadays to ask in doubting tones who will do a certain thing—saviors of the ridiculous.

People turn—for the common safety of their pocketbooks—to the A-B-C Classified Section where specialists of all kinds offer their services.

You, too, will find safety in these economical and profitable offers.

O'DOWD MEETS MUTT SNYDER ON WEDNESDAY

Dayton, O., July 1—Midget Mike O'Dowd of Columbus and Mutt Snyder of Dayton, will be the principals in the main event at the McCabe Arena here next Wednesday night. Much rivalry exists between these two bantamweights and the result of their fight will have much to do with deciding the state bantamweight championship. Mutt and Mike both scored wins over Kid Jap of Detroit last week.

Steve Gauder, of Dayton, and Billy Coter of Wilbur Wright Field are down for a six round event. Stinger Huffman, local lightweight who beat Jug Miller of Cincinnati last week will tackle Johnnie Wigal of Dayton in four rounds.

Bill Petre, Dayton's only Greek fighter will meet Walter McGowan of Wilmington in a four round go. Petre can hit hard with either hand and Dayton fans have taken a big fancy to him. Bud Fisher and Ted Stowe will show in a four round event while Spike Bomber of West Carrollton meets Dutch Carp of Dayton in the opening go of three rounds which should be a slugging match.

The show will be the third of the semi-pro events of the season with ringside seats at $1 plus war tax.

RESERVES TO MEET OLTS IN TWIN PROGRAM

The baseball attraction for the Fourth of July will be the Olts Products of Dayton, which team will perform here Friday at Washington Park against the Xenia Reserves in a double-header.

Stockman, a new hurler recently obtained by the Reserves, will likely hurl one of the games while Cyphers is down to work in the other contest. Manager George Ewing expects to put a first-class team in the field as he will obtain the services of several other new players for the game.

The initial contest will get under way promptly at 1:30 o'clock and the second will follow immediately. In case the first game is longer than expected, the second will be cut down to seven innings.

The same price of admission will prevail.

DAYTON PIKE IS BEING REPAIRED

The finishing touches of the work started on the Dayton Pike last fall were begun Monday.

Tar and crushed rock are being laid on the pike extending from the outskirts of Xenia to the Beaver Creek Township Church. The road will not be closed to traffic, according to County Surveyor W. J. Davis, as only one-half of the pike is being worked upon at one time.

RHEUMATIC VICTIM LACKED FAITH BUT NEUTRONE WAS CONVINCING

Suffering Long Agony and Discouraged Over Many Failures Detroit Man Would Try Anything Once.

"While working for Dodge Bros., Detroit, a sudden attack of rheumatism crippled me all up. My legs, knees and feet swelled to double their size. Western doctors did not help me and I had to stop work."

"I then came East, my cousin thinking a change of climate would help. Instead, I got worse than ever; my arms becoming so useless that my wife had to feed me through a tube. Eastern doctors and remedies proved no better than those of Detroit."

"Every day my cousin urged me to try 'Neutrone Prescription 99'. It had cured him. So with little faith, I began to take this wonderful remedy. Truly, it seemed that a miracle had happened. Swellings went down, my crippled joints straightened out and in two weeks I was back to work, as well as even better than ever. Three bottles cured me, but I took a couple more to drive out any trace of rheumatic poison."

"Neutrone Prescription 99" put me back to work, and I have worked steadily ever since. It cured me and I trust this letter will persuade all sufferers to get the same help that I got. They will never regret it."

"Neutrone Prescription 99" now comes in tablet as well as liquid form whichever is preferred. Leading druggists everywhere.

cleans pots and pans—the most disagreeable part of dishwashing

GREASE and grime, the bugbears of dishwashing, are bugbears no longer. Climalene instantly "breaks" the hardest water, transforms it into rainwater softness, and quickly cuts the grease on pots and pans.

Greasy utensils such as skillets and roasters, scorched and badly burnt baking dishes and casseroles are quickly and easily cleaned without scouring by soaking in hot water to which Climalene has been added.

It is equally effective in cleaning the stove and sink. Just sprinkle a little on a damp cloth and apply. No need to use harsh gritty cleansers and scouring powders. Climalene leaves the hands soft and white.

Sold by all grocers in 12 oz. and 2 lb. packages.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

James Russell Robinson, laborer, Yellow Springs, and Della Mae Stevens, Yellow Springs. Rev. Smith.

A LIGHTHOUSE FOR ALL LIGHT HOUSEKEEPERS

The James Grocery, East Market Street, experienced difficulty in following their customary pursuits, when they advertised light housekeeping rooms in the classified columns of the Gazette-Republican. They were swamped—overwhelmed.

The rush of inquiries kept them inordinately busy—long after they had found a desirable tenant. Possibly they believe that Gazette-Republican ads pull "too well"—but this is not argument against using them. It should rather be regarded as irrefutable proof that The Gazette-Republican classified columns shed a beacon light which attracts all homeless wanderers to the sheltering haven of their first class rentals.

LOVE-OR FAME?

by
VIOLET DARE

Author of "The Half-Time Wife"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit

PERSIS GRANT and try to break into the movies. She meets

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, and after a quarrel with Persis, goes to a girl's club with

SYLVIA STEARNS and lives there. Through French she meets

JOHN SEWARD, a famous star, and is engaged as his leading lady in an independent production that he is making.

XIX—A GREAT SURPRISE.

"I WANT to talk to you a minute," Mr. Haynes said as I closed the door behind me. John Seward was sitting near there, and the writer —Mr. Grant—was walking up and down the room. I could guess what was coming!

"Seward wants to give you the biggest scene in the picture," he told me. "He ought to have it, and we could really stage it easier if we emphasized his part and not yours. But he's determined to let you have it, and of course if it goes over—well, you'll be made—and it's the darnedest whitest thing any man ever did!" he wound up in a burst of enthusiasm that somehow sounded almost angry at me. He thumped Seward on the shoulder, and the three men all began talking at once, hardly paying any attention to me.

I didn't exactly know what to do. But finally John Seward got up and came over to my side.

"I'll drive you home in my car, Dorothy," he said. "We aren't going to shoot those other scenes this afternoon after all, so you'll be able to leave at once. And on your way back to town we can talk this thing over and I'll give you my ideas about it."

I ran to my dressing room, smeared cold cream on my face, and mopped it off in less time than it had ever taken me before. Then I scrambled into the dark-blue organ-dress and light coat that I was wearing that day—it was early June, and awfully warm—and hurried down to the studio again to join John Seward.

Near the set Sylvia was standing, talking to Lawrence French, and they both turned as I hurried across the floor.

"Ready to go so early?" called Lawrence. "That's fine; we might run down to Coney Island for dinner, if you'd like to."

"Oh, I can't tonight, Lawrence," I answered, barely stopping—I could see John Seward waiting for me over near the door. "I'm going home with John Seward."

It hurt me, the way his face changed—just as if someone had struck him. And Sylvia—well, her eyes just blazed. I wanted to stop and explain to them, but Mr. Seward had seen me coming and was slipping into his motor coat. So I hurried on, but I didn't feel quite happy. I didn't want Lawrence to think that I'd dropped him for John Seward.

The drive along the shore of the Hudson and down to the ferry was beautiful, and I enjoyed it so much that when we got over to the New York side John Seward said:

"Why don't we run up the river somewhere for dinner? It's a heavenly place run by a Japanese—it's on the edge of a little ravine, with great trees rising all around you; you eat outdoors, and there's a new moon tonight, and it's a perfect place to celebrate your rise to stardom."

"Stardom?" That almost stunned me. "But I'm not a star," I told him.

"Unless I'm a pretty poor guesser you will be when this picture's released," he answered. "Why, look at the chance you've got. Elsie Ferguson and I were talking about it last night—and she said that she'd give a good deal to play it herself, though of course the part is meant for a much younger girl. Now we'll go on location up at Cape Cod the last of this week—just Haynes, Mrs. Phillips—that was the character woman—you and I. There's a beautiful bit of coast up there, just right for a background for that big scene. And we'll work the thing out there. Can you be ready to leave Thursday night?"

Tomorrow—A Misunderstanding.
